

Steve Kihm, DBA, CFA
Citizens Utility Board of Wisconsin
Michigan State University Institute of Public Utility

Steve Kihm has worked in the field of regulation for 41 years, including 21 years at the Wisconsin Public Service Commission. He is currently Regulatory Strategist at the Citizens Utility Board of Wisconsin and Senior Fellow-Finance at Michigan State University's Public Utility Institute. He has testified as an expert finance witness in proceedings across the country. He has published academic articles in the Journal of Applied Corporate Finance and Managerial Finance and policy analyses in the Energy Law Journal, Public Utilities Fortnightly, and the Electricity Journal. He has also co-authored the text Risk Principles for Public Utility Regulators (with Dr. Jan Beecher). He holds a Master of Business Administration in Finance from the University of Wisconsin-Madison and a Doctor of Business Administration in Corporate Finance and Strategy from the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater. He is a Chartered Financial Analyst.